BRIEFS AND PERSONALS.

A Memory of Summer.

A few days ago I was thinking of the summer that has just passed. It was a very pleasant one, and I am sure that all of us enjoyed it very much. I am sure that all of us enjoyed it very much.

Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson visited the Exposition this week.

Mr. P. H. C. Rice enjoyed the week just at the Jamestown Exposition.

Mr. Paul S. Barrow has entered Randolph-Macon Academy at Bedford City.

Mr. Alfred Kelsey has gone to attend the Piedmont Business College at Lynchburg.

Miss Sallie Clark Collins has been spending this week with relatives and friends in Lynchburg.

The square fronting the Normal School will soon be one of the most attractive in all Virginia.

The Daughters of Confederacy will meet next Thursday evening at half past 10 o'clock at Mrs. Ellen Berkeley's.

If Kanyville improved in population as fast as she does in physical comforts it would soon leave Richmond in the shade.

The house and lot in the rear of the Baptist Church, belonging to Mrs. Sallie P. Hunt, has been sold to Mr. F. B. Gilbert.

TEN DOLLARS REWARD for the apprehension of the person who stole from the HERALD printing office last Friday one two-year-old boy.

Saturday will be revealed as the watermelon day of the season, and many a "cuffed" brother will recall it as "watermelon" day.

Miss Smithley of the Normal faculty, is boarding with Mrs. D. T. Egan and not at Mrs. Cunningham's as was stated in last week's HERALD.

The melancholy season of the year but in its variegated beauty more glorious than even bursting, blooming season.

Miss Hattie Lee Cherrill has left for Hampton to teach in Sims-Eaton Academy, where she has taught for the last five years.

Miss Goldie Walldahl, near Hampton, who has been in Richmond over a month under medical treatment, is reported as improving.

Have you seen a falling leaf? "Leaves have their times to fall, and so do I, the only difference between them and me I fall more often and more frequently."

Mrs. A. B. Crallie, of Norfolk; Mrs. A. J. Davis, of Mecklenburg; and Mrs. Stettler, of Texas, are guests in the family of Mr. J. A. Scott. The two former are sisters of Mr. Scott, and the latter a niece.

Rev. Mr. Graham preached a searching sermon on Sabbath Obedience on last Sunday and raised his voice against Sunday visiting, Sunday travel, Sunday newspapers, etc.

Farmville's "water wagon" is the most popular of all our vehicles. The question is how did we ever get on without the lithia, the granolithic, the new depot, the water works, the electric lights and the Normal girls?

Tobacco cutting has been the order of the day with the farmer of late, and now the curing smoke, the shipping, the ordering and all to be followed by the ready cash. That's the goal, the crown, to Mecca.

Saturday the hustling day, Monday the settling day, all others working days. Thank God for Sunday the rest day. Let's listen to the preacher, yes, rather to the word of God, and make it more and more a rest day, and one of worship.

Is this the season for trimming or pruning trees? We notice that such work has been going on at some points on our streets and on some of the noblest of our trees. It will not do to harm them for they are our old and tried friends.

The Richmond News-Leader gave a column of editorial advice to our growers of dark tobacco recently—good advice too and our hope is that the medicine will work. While folks can't afford to work poor acres, but having worked they are entitled to a profit.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Beth E. Harris to Mr. R. B. Woodson, of Lynchburg. The event will be a quiet one, only the family and a few friends being present. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Jos. E. Garland, next Wednesday evening, September 25th, at 9 o'clock.

There has not been a Sunday during this summer that Mr. J. W. Dunington, of Cumberland county, has not had strawberries freshly gathered from his garden for dinner. There are now numberless young berries and myriads of blossoms on the vines. It was our misfortune to be away from town last Monday when a box of the luscious fruit came to our sanctum.

Neil Littlefield Trio will be the first number of the Entertainment Course at the Opera House, the date being Nov. 7th. Of this number the press of the whole country is unanimous in praise. Do not miss the pleasure this Course of 3 numbers will afford. Price of a double ticket for the entire Course is only $5.50. Single ticket $3.00. Subscribe now.

The Presbyterians of Farmville were never given a more delightful entertainment than was that of last Friday evening when they had as their guests the young ladies of the Normal who are allied with their faith, besides a large number of other invited guests. Greetings were cordial, hand-shaking general and there was much common union of kindred spirits. Choice refreshments were served and each moment of the evening was "jeweled with a joy."

The Times of the Methodist Church bell rang out on the still night air of last Friday evening clear and strong summoning to the first service under the roof of the new building. It was a choir practice in the lecture room which though yet unfinished is supplied with the sea from the old church and is not only attractive but eminently comfortable. The room itself is a beauty and reflects great credit on architect and builder, and it is always gratifying to remember that the builder is a Prince Edward boy.

Circuit Court Proceedings.

Hon. George J. Hundley convened the September term of Prince Edward Circuit Court Monday, and the docket was rapidly proceeded with.

The grand jury was composed of the following: L. D. Jones, foreman; S. J. Allen, J. P. McGraw, T. H. Bruce, J. H. Farrar, E. H. Davis, W. H. Walden, J. Ashby, Amstutz and R. V. Ligon. The following indictments were returned.

Willie Ballowe, horse stealing, a true bill.

Henry Ford and John Franklin, alias Curtis Franklin, grand larceny, a true bill.

P. T. Owen, misdemeanor No. 1, a true bill.

P. T. Owen, misdemeanor No. 2, a true bill.

Farmville Dispensary Board and salesmen, misdemeanor, true bill.

T. A. Gray vs. G. C. and M. L. Dillon, judgment for $1000 with interest from the 19th day of February, 1907.

The trial of Henry Ford and John Ashby, alias Curtis Franklin, was taken up and the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty. They were charged with burglarizing the store of J. S. Bradshaw at Rice Depot.

Wiley Haskins, a one-legged negro, charged with breaking into the store of J. S. Bradshaw, who after his arrest broke jail and escaped to New Jersey had his trial continued on motion of the Attorney for the Commonwealth.

J. W. Hilltrap qualified to practice before the Prince Edward bar by taking the oath of an attorney at law.

W. H. Anderson was appointed and qualified as guardian of Viola Anderson with W. H. Walden as his surety.

P. T. Owen was tried by the court upon indictment charging him with violating the election law. He was given one minute in jail and fined one cent which fine carries with it costs of trial.

The second case against the prisoner P. T. Owen for violating the election law was dismissed.

John Sprague, the negro who escaped from the custody of the superintendent of public roads and was recaptured in Roanoke and returned to Farmville by Police Officer Fretwell was given 30 days in jail and required to pay the costs of his trial.

Local News Thirty-Two Years Ago.

On Wednesday a large crowd assembled at the Farmville depot to see the train which carried Valentine's Statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee en route to Lexington. The case containing the statue was beautifully decorated with flowers and evergreens. On each side of the case worked in evergreens and flowers was the honored name "Lee," and on one side was added: "Virginia's Son—Never to be Forgotten."

From Petersburg I went over to the old town of Farmville to spend the Sabbath. The day opened with a beautiful bright sun and bracing air, inviting all to go out to church. It was my delight to hear the Rev. H. H. Hawes of the Presbyterian Church. He took for his subject, the 17th verse, 20th chapter St. John's Gospel—Jesus saith unto his Father, not for I am not yet ascended to my Father, but go to my brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto my Father, and your Father; and to my God, and to your God.

He handled his subject with great originality and force, chaining the attention of his large audience for one hour, without the least sign of fatigue or restlessness. He is exceedingly popular, and is doing great good in that field—has had large accessions to his church.

"I am sorry to see any of our Southern congregations following in the footsteps of the Northern churches in introducing operatic music in their service. Nothing that does not tend to produce devotional feelings should be introduced into our churches."

"Farmville seems to be much as it was in years gone by. There seems to be no effort to improve the streets or ways leading into town. I noticed in the upper end of Main street the signs of many wagons having been stalled. This seems to me to be a short sighted policy. Nothing adds more to the trade of a town than an easy and safe access. I say this in no captious spirit, but in hope it may be of service."

Narrow Bridge Nuisance.

Editor Herald:—We do not believe in the indiscriminate use of injunctions, but if ever they do undertake to build a bridge over a Prince Edward stream and not make it wide enough for vehicles to pass safely and comfortably we hope some far-sighted citizen will at once apply for one and stop the nuisance.

The Great Roanoke Fair.

Attention is called to the change in the advertisement for the Great Roanoke Fair, which commences Tuesday September 24th and ends Friday September 27th. This fair is considered to be one of the best in the South. The enormous sum of $15,000 in premiums and purses will be distributed this year. Free attractions of all kinds have been engaged by the Association, among them daily balloon ascension by Prof. Hutchinson, the greatest balloonist in the world. It is expected that this county will send a large delegation to the Roanoke Fair. The management guarantees every one a good time. Don't fail to attend. For information address, Louis A. Scholz, Sec.

Non-experience servants are the best for hotels.

Sunday in Our Churches.

Sunday was an ideal September day in the natural world. Our churches were all open, the regular pastors occupying their respective pulpits except that Rev. Mr. Lancaster, of Perth Amboy, N. J., preached at the Episcopal Church, and the congregations were large and interested.

The Methodists occupied their new lecture room for the first for Sunday school and preaching services, and while not yet finished it is convenient and comfortable.

The addition of the Normal girls not only makes our congregations large but their presence gives new charm to them. The music of our churches was never so good and this adds greatly to the public worship of Almighty God. This better church music is being secured by more conscientious and persistent practicing on the part of the choirs. We noticed that on last Sunday immediately following the morning services at the Methodist Church, the choir began at once to practice for the night services, and such practice will make perfect.

Before this congregation left the lecture room at the morning hour of worship they raised $2,000 towards a pipe organ. It may take as much more, for such a church building is entitled to the best, but those people have gotten into the habit of "doing things" and will have the balance on time. Professor Mattoon, of the Normal faculty, united with this church at the morning hour of worship.

Snap Shot.

The tomato crop was never larger, nor the fruit itself better.

One of our young friends, who recently secured work in a store of a sister town, wrote home and among other things said, "I like my boss, but the question of most concern to me is, does he like me?" That's well put.

They have had lots of fun in some of the societies at the normal already in making new members.

Farmville is crowded as never before in its history.

A good eating apple is hard to find. We heard that one of our housekeepers had put up 150 bushels of peaches. It had not occurred to us that so many had been brought to town.

There is a growing desire on the part of parents, who send their daughters to the Normal that they shall board in the school building. This speaks well for the conduct of the household department.

Mrs. Charles Price paid a hurried visit to Gardentia recently and brought back a large head of cabbage in her dress suit case, and a well grown cantaloupe in her arms.

Mrs. Dr. Gibbs, of Charlottesville, is the guest of Mrs. P. W. McKinney.

It is interesting to listen to the Normal graduates about leaving for their first school, to tell what she will do with her first money. One thing is certain, she will waste none of it on cigarettes.

The nights blooming cereus shone out in all its beauty and glory at the home of Mrs. J. P. Fitzgerald on Tuesday night of last week.

Dr. Messenger has one of the coisest and most attractive houses in town. No official of any school in the State has a more elegant one than that of Dr. Jarman.

The first day at school of the "small boy" is an epoch in his life.

Like anything else about Farmville, Her Germans are of the highest order of excellence.

Sweet "tatoes" have arrived and have met with a warm reception.

Dr. White says that "cornfield peas make the staff of life of the people of Southside Virginia."

Roasting ears are better and better as the season advances.

We saw one of our thrifty farmers with a basket of fresh eggs on his streets recently and he was finding difficulty in disposing of them. If he had brought in a load of rotten tobacco, it would have "fetched" the ready cash.

With the longer evenings Finch is growing in favor.

It would be well if Dr. Jarman could take all of his girls to the Jamestown Exposition.

A good lady from the county brought in some tomatoes for another good lady in town and then forgot and carried them back home with her again.

A hard worked girl teacher went to the mountains to strengthen for the work of another session, and after spending all of her money and was nothing better had to come back to Farmville to woo the Goddess successfully. She now insists that this is Ponce de Leon. Keep the dogs out doors and the fleas out of the houses.

Westover Hotel Changes Proprietor.

Yesterday the Westover Hotel was turned over to Mr. P. A. Hall, who will hereafter be its manager and proprietor. Mr. C. T. Chick has had the sole management of the Westover not quite a year, and in that brief time it has become one of the best known hotels of the smaller towns in Virginia. He retires from the business to engage in another pursuit. Mr. Chick will remain at the Westover for several weeks in order that his successor may familiarize himself with the business.

Large Tobacco Shipment.

The remarkable task of loading over one thousand hogheads of tobacco in less than one day was performed yesterday at the Farmville freight depot. The tobacco belonged to Mr. W. G. Dunington, and was taken by two engines and crews direct to Norfolk, where with an equal quantity sent down from Lynchburg, belonging also to Mr. Dunington, it was loaded aboard a steamship for its final destination, Norway.

LETTER TO ASA JENKINS.

Farmville, Va.
Dear Sir: Every boy Devoe is done with less gallons than ever before with any other paint.

Prospect.

Editor Herald:—I never saw old Prospect shine out in far more colors. True some of the leaves are fading and falling, but there is such a wealth of bloom and blossom about the place that the whole is enveloped in beauty.

Mrs. T. H. Glenn has been nursing her pets, the flowers, with her wonted care during the season and now that some of them are approaching the dying hour, they are giving back to her more than summer fairness and fragrance. The flower beds are still spotted with splendor and the time approaches when the crysanthemums will lend its charm to the floral scenes.

Why isn't it that all our housewives are not as devoted to flowers as Mrs. Glenn is? They require immense and constant care and they only receive it from those who love them.

Forty years ago I was impressed with the fact that Prospect was a conspicuous timber center, and I am still impressed with the fact. Slash as the woodman has been doing all these years at our forests they still yield good harvests. The Standard oil has its fingers in this pie and along with other timber and ties its staves are piled up here in goodly numbers. The barrel factory ought to be here too, and the wonder is that such a man as E. S. Taylor hasn't thought and held it here. But he is busy with the foreign market and must be excused for not being able to grasp the earth.

I am just returned from a six month's stay in the great and rich valley of Virginia, but for "creature comforts" give me Prospect every day of every year. There is no rush here in the business current but a steady, sure and satisfactory flow.

Mr. J. E. Harris got tired of the gauging business in quick order, and is enjoying private life and the comforts of his home here.

A protracted meeting is in progress at the Methodist Church here, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Carson, who is assisted by Rev. Mr. Dewberry, of the Cumberland circuit.

The crops of tobacco of this neighborhood are good and most of it housed. The rural mail carriers seem to be satisfied with the increase of pay. I met with a retired N. & W. official who is living alone and doing his own cooking and he tells me that no female cook in America can beat him on Brunswick stew. And this reminds me that during my day Dick Hawkins was the prince of stew makers.

Mrs. T. H. Glenn has two of the most flourishing lemon trees I ever saw. From last season's crop she gathered one lemon that weighed 2 1/2 pounds. I have no doubt they will be just as large this season.

Prospect is too important a business center for any of the passenger trains of the Norfolk and Western to pass by without stopping.
